

Pine Rivers Press (Strathpine)

Thursday 9/02/2017

Page: 2
Section: General News
Region: Brisbane, AU
Circulation: 29754
Type: Suburban
Size: 262.00 sq.cms.

slice
CUT STRAIGHT TO YOUR NEWS

press clip

BRAY PARK

Malakai McAllister, of Joyner, plays with AEIOU Bray Park program manager Maria Zaldivar as they plan for AEIOU's open day next week. Picture: CHRIS HIGGINS

Workshop on autism

Ellen-Maree Elliot

FAMILIES with children with autism spectrum disorder can learn about AEIOU's early intervention program at its Bray Park centre's open day next week.

Program manager Maria Zaldivar said the open day would include a tour and a workshop to help parents with challenging behaviours.

"We're a leading Australian provider of early intervention for children with ASD," she said.

OPEN DAY OFFERS FREE HELP SESSION

Ms Zaldivar said the centre used a best practice, evidence-based curriculum and taught children essential life skills and confidence.

She said her work was "very rewarding".

"It's the best thing ever," she said.

"You see the burden lifted off their shoulders and they can see how far the children have come and all the skills they have received."

The AEIOU Bray Park Open Day and Workshop is on February 14, from 9am, and registrations are essential. Phone 3889 7751 or email braypark@aeiou.org.au.